

Chapter 8. Minitext: On Danish customs

Here is a copy of Minitext D from Introduction to Old English. Read it carefully, and then underline each adjective. When you are satisfied that you have found all the adjectives, number them. Now, for each adjective, find the noun or nouns (if any) that it modifies and label those nouns with the numbers of their adjectives.

[1] Ic secge ēac ðē, brōðor Ēadweard, nū ðū mē þisses bāede, þæt gē dōð unrihtlice þæt gē ðā Engliscan þēawas forlætað þe ēowre fæderas hēoldon and hāðenra manna þēawas lufiað, þe ēow ðæs līfes ne unnon, [2] and mid ðām gēswuteliað þæt gē forsēoð ēower cynn and ēowre ylðran mid þām unþēawum, þonne gē him on tēonan tysliað ēow on Denisc, ābleredum hneccan and āblendum ēagum. [3] Ne secge ic nā mære embe ðā sceandlican tyslunge, būton þæt ūs secgað bēc þæt se bēo amānsumod þe hāðenra manna þēawas hylt on his līfe and his āgen cynn unwurþað mid þām.